Fishing Report – March 1, 2010

In the last two weeks of February, with the weather holding, we were able to find some really nice winter Chinook in the 10 - 12lb range with one tipping the scale at 23lbs and traps filled with plenty of Prawns. Now that the 2010 Winter Olympics are wrapped up and we are not glued to the TV cheering on the athletes, March is a great month for fishing! With the weather more predictable I expect to see good winter Chinook fishing for the next month. We have been concentrating our efforts along Willow & Shelter Point trolling back and forth through the trenches between 150 – 200 feet of water on the last half of the flood tide though the first push of the ebb tide. Once the outgoing tide starts to push, we move over to the lighthouse on the ebb tide to do "the drift" along the reef keeping our gear within twenty feet of the bottom.

For those interested in getting an early start on the 2010 fishing season, just give us a call. The weather is showing the first hints of spring and the fish still bite!

It's time to go fishing!
Space is filling, be sure to book early to avoid disappointment.
We look forward to seeing you in 2010!
