Fishing Report – January 14, 2012

Despite the weather being absolutely dismal to start the year we were able to find some really nice winter fish in the 10 – 15lb range when the weather broke. We are concentrating our efforts along Willow & Shelter point for winter Chinook fishing between 150 – 250ft of water down 100 – 160ft with flasher anchovy, spoons both with & without flashers. As for the prawning it has been very productive along the back side of Quadra Island with that said be sure to check for in season area closers. For those interested in getting an early start on the 2012 fishing season, just give us a call. The weather is cooler but the fish still bite and the boat heaters are on!

The days are starting to get longer and spring is not far off. It's time to start thinking about this year's vacation and the opportunity to get out for a fishing trip. Whether it's a family, corporate or a group of friends - pick up the phone and give us a call - our staff will be happy to answer all of your questions and provide you with all the information for a great trip!
